QUOTE LAW IN "TAX REVIVAL"

COUNTY COURT ANSWERS SKEPTICS OF COLLECTORS' POWERS.

DRIVE GETS RESULTS

Order to Seize and Sell Person Property Speeds Up the Dilatory Payments.

Persons who doubt the authority of township collectors to seize and sell personal property for the payment of taxes need only consult the County Court today.

Although confident themselves that they were proceeding along the right line in rejecting taxbooks with large delinquent lists, the county judges had heard doubts expressed. So this morning they turned lawyers and dug into more or less musty tomes.

They found a number of startling things—even to the court. One was that personal property may be seized and sold without judgment, not only for the payment of personal taxes, but for payment of real estate taxes as well.

They found also that the taxes need not become delinquent before property can be levied upon, provided that the taxes have been refused and that the collector gives notice in person of his intention to seize the property.

They found that before collectors can turn in delinquent lists, they first must make affidavit that they have been unable to find any personal property upon which to levy.

A "Tax Revival."

None of these provisions are new. Admitting that they had been disregarded in the past, the county judges declared their intention of continuing their "revival" of tax collecting, just as some churches hold revivals of religion.

Already the tax revival has borne fruit. The township collectors who submitted delinquent lists, having been duly excreised and prayed with, returned to their task Wednesday and Thursday with renewed zeal, and today had brought many of the delinquents to the sinners' bench.

G. E. Ingels of Pickering, collector of Union township, once refused settlement, returned yesterday afternoon with what the judges pronounced a "100 per cent" taxbook. No personal taxes remained upon his book except against a few persons now out of the state. One collection which he was instructed to make took him into another township, but he made the collection.

Mrs. Nelle Price Leeper of Elmo, collector of Lincoln township, also returned with a very small delinquent list of personal taxes. She collected a total of $48,477.57, and reported delinquent and erroneous taxes of $2,252.58. Personal taxes were only $62.80, and practically all was charged against persons now out of the state.

What the Law Provides.

The County Court found that the law governing the collection of taxes, taken from the Revised Statutes of Missouri, 1919, is as follows:

"Sec. 12907. Seizure and sale of property after October 1st.—The collector shall diligently endeavor and use all lawful means to collect all taxes which they are required to collect in their respective counties, and to that end they shall have the power to seize and sell the chattels of the person liable for taxes, in the same manner as goods and chattels are or may be required to be seized and sold under execution issued on judgment at law, and no property whatever shall be exempt from seizure and sale for taxes dues on lands or personal property:

"Provided, that no such seizure or sale for taxes shall be made until after the first day of October of each year, and the collector shall not receive a credit for delinquent taxes until he shall have made affidavit that he has been unable to find any personal property out of which to make the taxes, in each case so returned delinquent; but no such seizure and sale of goods shall be made until the collector has made demand for the payment of the tax, either in person or by deputy, to the party liable to pay the same, or by leaving a written or printed notice at his place of abode for that purpose, with some member of the family over fifteen years of age.

May Seize After Oct. 1.

"Such seizure may be made at any time after the first day of October,

Pipe Line Ordinance Passes Without Hitch

Bids Will Be Received Monday Afternoon, Together With Those on Five Paving Projects.

The ordinance proposing a new pipe line from the pumping station to the city's water mains was finally passed by the City Council last night, after lying upon the table for the necessary seven days.

Bids already have been asked, and will be received Monday afternoon on 3,500 lineal feet of pipe, both in the ten and twelve-inch size. For the rest of the distance to the city mains, part of the present line will be utilized.

The bids on the pipe will be received at 2 p. m. Monday, at the same time as the bids on five paving projects and the curb and guttering at the intersection of Fourth and Dunn streets.

CLEANLINESS PAYS IN PIGS

LITTERS UNDER SANITARY CONDITIONS AVERAGE 7.7.

GENERAL AVERAGE 4.5

L. A. Stelter, Nodaway County, Markets 115 Head From 15 Sows, An Average of 7.66.

Twenty-seven Missouri farms which followed the plan of hog sanitation outlined by the Missouri College of Agriculture during 1925 now have accurate records showing that 217 sows last spring raised to four months of age 1,666 pigs an average of 7.7 pigs per litter, according to information received by the Nodaway County Farm Bureau. This record, when compared to the average of 4.5 pigs per litter as raised over the state, shows the possibilities in this plan of hog management, says J. W. Burch, of the College of Agriculture.

This plan has been followed by a number of Nodaway County farmers with good results, according to J. Ross Fleetwood, county farm agent. The results secured by L. A. Stelter, Maryville, will serve to show that this is true. Mr. Stelter was able to market 115 head of pigs from 15 sows, which is an average of 7.66 pigs per litter. He was able to do this in spite of the fact that for three or four years previous to 1925 he was unable to market more than 3 or 4 pigs per sow on an average.

"The demonstration results show not only that more pigs per litter can be raised to marketable weight, but they show that 100 pounds gain was made 75 cents to $1.00 cheaper because of increased health or vigor," Mr. Fleetwood said. "During the last two years 49 farms in Missouri have produced 29.1 head of pigs in accordance with these sanitation plans. It has been demonstrated time and again that this plan will make possible thrifty pigs where heavy losses due to worms and filth diseases have previously occurred."

If any farmer's pigs have not been thrifty during the last few years, the county agent suggests that he get in communication with him, and get the details of the plan that has proven so successful under Nodaway County conditions.

JEW IS OPEN TO THE WORD

GARTENHAUS SPEAKS TO MISSIONS MEETING.

LAST SESSION TODAY

Business Meeting and Discussion of Problems Feature Baptist Convention This Morning.

"The Jew is open to the gospel of Christ," Jacob Gartenhaus, Christian Jew and worker in home missions for the Baptist church, said at the session of the missionary convention at the First Baptist Church last night.

"Not much is known about the Jews in connection with missions," he said. "We know about China and India, but our knowledge concerning the Hebrews is limited."

Mr. Gartenhaus told of his work with the Jews. He was raised in the family of a rabbi in Palestine. Two of his brothers were rabbis. One of these was converted, and he and the speaker last night became missionaries.

"There are more Jews in St. Louis than there are in Palestine," Mr. Gartenhaus said. He also commented on the number living in Kansas City.

The speaker said that the Jews are more open-minded than they are given credit for being, and that a great work can be done in Christianizing them.

Miss Kathleen Mallory, corresponding secretary of the Women's Missionary Union of the Southern Baptist Convention with headquarters at Birmingham, Ala., also spoke last night. The theme of her talk was "The Tithe."

"There are three points in connection with the tithe," she said. "There is the law, the love, and the lift of it."

Stressing the last of these three she told how church work and mission work could be well supported if each church member practiced tithing.

Miss Marie Cloud sang "Come Unto Me," at the service last night. There was a fair congregation.

More than 100 persons attended the banquet of the young women's and girls' auxiliaries at 6 o'clock last night in the basement of the church. There was quite a delegation from Tarkio.

The two-day meeting closed at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. This morning the session was devoted to a business meeting and a round-table discussion of mission subjects.

Mrs. George McWilliams of Liberty explained the women's missionary training school and the Margeret Fund at the session this afternoon Mrs. F. W. Armstrong of Plattsburg also spoke.

R. E. Thomas of Maryville was elected president of the Nodaway County Farmers' Vigilant Association at the meeting held this afternoon in the circuit court room. John Bossh of Pickering was chosen vice-president, and Charles Wells of Maryville was named secretary-treasurer.

The by-laws of the organization were adopted at the meeting this afternoon A committee report, submitted by William Job, chairman, was accepted with several changes, the most important of which was in regard to the amount of money to be paid in rewards.

The organization will pay $200 for information leading to the arrest, and conviction of person or persons charged with grand larceny from members of the organization. A reward of $25 will be paid for the same in regard to petit larceny, and $50 will be paid for the same in respect to persons knowingly receiving stolen property.

In addition to the reward, a compensation may be paid by the organization to officials who expenditures in the apprehension of thieves are more than their fees.

Fifteen directors, to be appointed from the different townships, will serve as a board to assist the officers of the organization.

The president of the organization will receive a salary of $25 annually. The vice-president will be paid $15, and the secretary-treasurer will be paid $50. There are also provisions for limited expense money.

Whenever the funds ow the organization become depleted, an assessment of not more than $5 a year is legitimized by the by-laws.

Washington, March 5.—Establishment of a federal farm board, with a 250-million-dollar fund to withhold surplus crops from the market and the stabilizing of prices, was the remedy for the farm problem presented to the House agriculture committee today by representatives of eleven Middle Western states.

The bill, passed by the House, would appropriate $225,000 for the creation of a co-operative marketing division in the agriculture department.

Chicago, March 5.—A bandit gang raided the tractor works of the International Harvester Co., this afternoon, sent a score of employes scurrying to cover under a blaze of rifle fire, scooped up the company's payroll of approximately $90,000 and made their escape in two automobiles.

Employes were quick to recover their nerve and the fleeing bandits were showered with bullets from the plant.

John B. Daily, auditor; Frank Johnson, cashier, and Thayer Kennedy, a secretary were in direct line of the bandits' fire as they smashed their way through the front door.

Buchanan County Road Work Scored by Jury

Court Is Condemned for Methods of Letting Contracts—Would Recover Warrants Still Out.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 5.—"We cannot too strongly criticize and condemn the present county court and the present county highway engineer for the very irregular, inefficient and unbusiness like methods which they have pursued in connection with the letting of contracts for work on the county roads, including the building of bridges and culverts."

That was the statement contained in a report submitted by the Buchanan county grand jury to William H. Utz, in the criminal division of the circuit court late Thursday afternoon.

Asks Smith to Start Action.

These practices have resulted in an extravagant waste of a large amount of public funds, the report points out.

It is recommended by the grand jury which was discharged by Judge Utz after the filing of the report on existing conditions in public offices and institutions, that Duval Smith, prosecuting attorney, immediately take measures, by injunction or otherwise, to protect the citizens of the county against the unlawful expenditure of public money in this regard.

It also is recommended that Smith take such steps as he may deem necessary to both recover the public money already expended and defend the county against the payment of all warrants now issued and outstanding in payment for such work.

This victory, gained in the face of forminable public and parliamentary opposition, was characterized as a masterly piece of political strategy.

Chamberlain is now at liberty to go to the meeting of the Council of the League of Nations to present his own plans without being hampered from home.

The Daily Express pessimistically predicts that Spain will be a member of the League Council before Monday now that the attempt to bridle Chamberlain has failed.

The men in the Kansas City territory had obtained their money through the efforts of the field representative in Kansas City. Other breeders in other sections were not so fortunate, Mr. Ogden said.

The blood is the LIFE, ABSOLUTELY—it builds every cell and fiber of the body. The cure of chronic affections is dependent upon CLEANSING, purifying and enriching the BLOOD STREAM. Serums DO THIS.

Inflamed mucous membranes, swellings, skin eruptions, aches, pains, twitchings, etc., ARE NATURE'S WARNINGS of TOXIC poisoning in the blood stream. The SUCCESSFUL physician HEALS THE PRIMARY CAUSE—The BLOOD ITSELF—whereas the average doctor prescribes palliative remedies for the symptoms ONLY, IGNORANT of the CAUSE THEREBY making an invalid or a "dope" fiend. Dr. Jacobs tells your ailments without questions, and without CHARGE. He sucessfully treats nose, throat, bronchial, stomach, bowel, bladder, kidney, gall bladder, and allied internal inflammations. They yield to SERUM and scientific mouth medication, neuralgia, rheumatism, acidosis, swellings, high blood pressure, heart weakness, neuritis, asthma ARE ONLY SYMPTOMS. Dr. Jacobs CURES the CAUSE through DIRECT injections into the Blood STREAM, safely and painlessly, no illness, no detention from work. He says, "We all love CLEANLINESS, so give your BLOOD a MEDICATED bath (which KILLS the GERMS, without mercury or "dope." He uses only VEGETABLE SERUMS and MEDICINES. He taught hundreds to be doctors. A big Kansas City doctor said, "Dr. C. W. Jacobs is a MEDICAL WIZARD." Another said, "He is 100 years ahead of his day." Piles, Goitre, Growths, Rheumatism, Asthma, Sciatica, Dropsy, CURED WITHOUT OPERATIONS, QUICKLY.

Dr. Jacobs has dozens of French and German and a few American Serums, NONE POISONOUS.

A well known citizen, Mr. A. M. Collins of Arkoe, Mo.: "I have been an invalid 7 years. Often fell to the ground while standing. Was going BLIND. Had rheumatism, anemia, epilepsy; slept poorly on one side. If I laid on the other I was paralyzed. Doctors said I was incurable. Spleen diseased, terrible discharges of blood from rectum; agony from piles. After only two months treatment with French Serums and mouth vegetable remedies (though past 73 years of age), I am cured. Must get WEAKER GLASSES, the old ones TOO STRONG. My skin is clear and pinkish and I have gained 18 pounds. Sleep on either side and think Doctor Jacobs (and so do my friends) has done a miracle in my case. His charges were SO reasonable." Martin Young, W. W. Kiser, Graham, Mo., an invalid since 7 years old, says Dr. Jacobs did him more good in one month's treatment than many Doctors did in 20 years; paid one $600.00. Fine now, 27 years old.

The best known young man hereabouts, Mr. Martin Carmichael of Pickering, Mo., ailing several years, says: "Dr. Jacobs is his Best Bet," and has done WONDERS for him. Mrs. Mabel Wiley (R. One), an invalid, is FAST gaining flesh and strength, and there are many others.

You CHRONIC SUFFERERS HOW GLORIOUS IT WOULD BE FOR YOU TO AGAIN HAVE THE GLORIOUS FEELING OF HEALTH? Why not avail yourself of this SKILLED SPECIALIST right here at home. He comes every month. He could NOT IF HE DID NOT DO WHAT HE UNDERTAKES. Many were turned away last month, so Dr. Jacobs politely requests those UNDER TREATMENT NOT TO COME ON FRIDAY. They will get QUICKER service by waiting.

Remember, LINVILLE HOTEL, FRIDAY, SATURDAY AND SUNDAY, NEXT.

The Road Over Yonder--Toward Happiness-
The Real Story of

BNAKING SERVICE

AFTER ALL, what good is money? Merely as paper and coin, no good at all. But when money is used to create happiness, it becomes of almost magic value. We could never justify that word "Service" if we dealt only in money—preached thrift for the sake of hoarding; investment for the piling up of wealth. We urge the conservation of wealth because it means provision for the future—income—peace—happiness—because it makes possible the better things in life—home—education—independence—the things we dream of, work for, desire. These are the things we offer to our patrons just as a store offers merchandise to its customers—these are the things that build a broader, smoother Road Over Yonder Toward the Sunrise, where lies the thing the world calls Happiness—these are the things that we believe justify our service.

Quote Law in "Tax Revival"

and before said taxes become delinquent, or after they become delinquent:

"Provided further, that when any person owing personal tax removes from one county in this state to another it shall be the duty of the county collector (or township collector as the case may be) of the county from which such person shall move, to send a tax bill to the sheriff of the county into which such person may be found, and on receipt of the same by said sheriff, it shall be his duty to proceed to collect said tax bill in like manner as provided by law for the collection of personal tax, for which he shall be allowed the same compensation as provided by law in the collection of executions. . ."

It has been held by the courts that personal property may be seized and sold for the collection of real estate taxes as well as personal. A footnote to the Revised Statutes of 1919 states: "The state has two methods for collecting taxes against real estate. One is by suit to enforce the state's lien against the specific piece of property; by the other the collector is given power to seize and sell personal property, without judgment, for the payment of all taxes."

All Taxes Against Owner.

Another footnote states that "taxes are personally against the owner of the property, whether same be real or personal, and land taxes are not merely a charge in rem against the land." Furthermore, taxes come before mortgages or other obligations, and the state's lien on personal property for taxes will not be discharged by an assignment of the property for the benefit of the creditors.

Cases are cited in support of these constructions.

It has been held also that a collector, acting under process valid on its face, is not liable for his official acts in the collections of taxes, although there are defects in the levy or assessment.

Section 12908 of the Revised Statutes states that "whenever taxes shall be collected by seizure or sale of goods and chattels, in addition to the amount of tax and costs of failure to pay the collector as provided by this chapter, the collector shall levy the necessary costs of the proceeding and the interest on the amount of the tax and costs of said failure for his trouble.

Entitled to Fees.

"If the collector has reason to believe that any person charged with the taxes is about to remove from the county without paying his taxes, he may at any time levy such taxes with costs and charges, by distress and sale: Provided, that in levying and selling personal property for taxes, the collector shall be governed by the same rules and be entitled to the same fees as sheriffs are or my be for like services upon executions."

In the statutes governing executions, it is again stated specifically that "Nothing contained in this article shall be construed so as to exempt any property from seizure and sale for the payment of taxes due this state, or any city, town or county thereof."

The law gives the person whose property is to be sold the right to elect what property shall be taken, but it must be sufficient to pay the taxes and all costs. The owner also may elect what part of the property is to be sold first. By giving bond, he may retain possession of the seized property until the day of sale.

Muddy Roads Make Hopkins Men Hoboes

"There's a couple of rather well dressed bums," some one remarked as the south bound freight pulled out of Hopkins last Friday, the fellow making the remark pointing to a box car with the two men standing boldly in the door. The men proved to be the vice-president of the Bank of Hopkins and the senior member of the firm of the Hopkins Drug Co., who had to "beat" their way to Maryville as it was necessary for them to reach there at a certain hour, and the freight crew is not allowed to haul passengers. The roads were too muddy for an auto so they had to play the part of the American hobo.—Hopkins Journal.

FIRST VICTORY FOR MITCHELL

FORMER COLONEL MAY BE PARTIALLY VINDICATED.

PLANS BIG AIR UNIT

Pennsylvania Congressman Completes Drafting of Measure for Extensive Development of Aviation in U.S.

Washington, March 5.—Partial vindication of Col. William Mitchell's air program by the House appeared today as a possible development within the next ten days, as Representative Morin, Republican of Pennsylvania, completed the drafting of a 200-million-dollar five-year air bill.

Morin announced today that he expected to present the bill to the military affairs committee, possibly tomorrow.

An unusual impasse in the committee, which indicated that no bill not meeting country-wide demand for a powerful air service, had a chance of being favorably reported, caused the rejection of all measures before it.

Morin was then asked to make a rough draft of a bill embodying essential features, or all of them that were practical.

Supporters of the "flying colonel," who was court-martialled following his repeated criticisms of American aeronautics, regarded the 300-million-dollar measure as the first step of what is expected to be eventual approval by Congress of a unified air service, with ample funds to put America to the forefront in aviation.

Large Grey Wolves Southwest of Barnard

(Barnard Bulletin)

Large gray wolves have been seen frequently southwest of town and while no report of loss of stock has been reported it is thought by farmers of the community that they will be making raids on young pigs and lambs if not driven from the county or killed.

About ten days ago some hounds caught one of them but were whipped off. An effort was made to run them last Sunday, but because of the high wind they were unable to get them up.

Many in the community have seen them. They report seeing two each time. They keep out of range of a shotgun, but it is believed that with a high powered rifle a good shot could be had at them.

Plans are being made for a drive to either kill them or drive them from the country.

PRAISE FOR THE LIVING.

Editor, Democrat-Forum and Tribune: I'm writing the Democrat-Forum a few lines in regard to Mr. George Brown and family.

You all know if we do anything bad in this life, we sure see it in the paper. But so seldom do we ever get any praise for the good we do. But when we pass away see the flowers that are sent to decorate our caskets.

So let's one and all give our flowers while living. It will make a brighter and happier world.

I'm like Henry Field; I want the world to know how thankful I am to Mr. Brown for taking my poor, helpless aunt in his arms and placing her in a safe, rescued place. I know, as helpless as she was, if he hadn't she would have perished in those flames.

And I think a man and woman as well qualified for such a place, that their salary should be raised. Just think, $100 a month for that man and wife. And to see, what a great responsibility on both of them. And when you get the right man in the right place, why not keep him? Why not pay him what it is worth?

Think of our teachers and of the superintendents of these small towns, from $1800 to $2,000 a year. Teachers $90 to $100, work five days—or part of the day and Mr. Brown and his wife work seven days and nights.

Of course I know that all the inmates that can work all work. That is what they should do. Everybody should work, and if more mothers and fathers were at home to work, how many more happy homes would we have and less boys and girls would go astray.

They are worthy of a larger salary, so I think.

Mrs. ED SIMMONS,
Parnell, Mo.

Pickering

(O. G. Null).

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wiley and son, Dean, returned last Friday from Tucson, Arizona, where they have been since December. The roads were so bad when they reached St. Joseph on their return trip that they left their car at that place and came home on the train.

Frank Ham of Mozingo Valley neighborhood is serving on the Federal petit jury in St. Joseph this week.

Mrs. Gladys Smith Ferguson and her sister, Miss Vivian Smith of Bolckow were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Reed over last Sunday. They returned to Maryville on Monday, where they are attending the State Teachers College.

Mrs. E. L. Crowson returned last Friday from St. Joseph, where she had visited with relatives for a few days.

The play, "Deacon Dubbs" will be given next Thursday evening at the Christian Church by members of Mrs. Torrey's division of the Ladies' Aid society.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Lett of Bloomdale neighborhood left on Wednesday for Rochester, Minn., where Mrs. Lett will undergo examination at the Mayo clinic to learn if possible the cause of her continued ill health.

The Farmers Exchange is having a concrete floor put in the wareroom at the rear of their place of business this week. This will enable them to handle their flour and feed without so much damage from rats and mice which have infested the space under the wooden floor of the building heretofore.

We made an awful mistake in our last week's items in saying "Herman Lincoln was sick and his recovery very doubtful." It should have read "Herman Sears is sick, and on account of his advanced age his recovery is doubtful."

Herman Lincoln, however, is in his usual good health and about the liviest invalid we know of. We beg Mr. Lincoln's pardon for the mistake and will try to be more careful in the future. At this time the condition of Mr. Sears is unimproved.

Charles McClurg and family are moving this week from near Barnard to the L. O. Rickard farm in Mowery neighborhood recently vacated by W. A. Lock.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McClurg were reared in this vicinity and we are glad to have them move back.

Wilson Ferguson and family moved Thursday from the old Copeland farm in Long Branch neighborhood to the Davis Bros. farm west of Excelsion School.

J. M. Glass and family moved from the farm owned by the Jacob Miller Estate west of Long Branch school to the Ed Caudle farm one mile north of Happy Hollow School, better known as the William Wray farm.

The Miller place will be occupied by Roy Sherlock and family who moved to it this week.

J. C. Lett and family moved from the Ernest Bainum farm southwest of town to the Harley Sowers farm near Xenia. Mr. Sowers made a public auction last week and disposed of his personal property and with his family will go to Colorado for this year.

The Bainum place vacated by Mr. Lett will be occupied by A. S. Hanna who purchased it recently.

CLEARMONT CHURCHES.

(From The Clearmont News.)

M. E. Church Notes.

Last Sunday was nice weather and we had fine attendance at church. At the night service there was the largest attendance there has been since I came. We hope the attendance will keep on growing.

There is a special session of the Annual Conference called by Bishop Waldorf, to meet at First M. E. Church St. Joseph, next Tuesday, March 9. It will be called to order at 10 o'clock and probably will be adjourned by the middle of the afternoon. I expect to attend.

If the roads and weather are favorable I shall be at Prairie Temple next Sunday morning for the 10 o'clock service. If the roads are bad I will not try to go. Prairie Temple folks take note.

Clearmont services will be both morning and evening.

Christian Church Notes.

The Sunday school session was full of lively interest and the fine part was that everyone had their say about the lesson, all of this shows that each one had spent some time in the study of the lesson also we are grateful for the new faces in the different classes, but were sorry that some of the regular attendants had to be absent. Plans are being made for a Passion Week and Easter service, full program of the service and the committees will be published soon, watch for it. There was no church services last Sunday as the undersigned had a sore throat. Christianity has done a world of good for sinners and we believe it would be of some value to the good people of Clearmont if they would allow it to come into their lives. M. I. Rose.

Baptist Church Notes.

Sunday morning both Sunday school and preaching services were good, two additions at the preaching service. Fifty two at Sunday school.

Yes, Rev. Howerton was here for a service Tuesday night, but as the M. E. meeting was in progress and roads bad it was thought best not to have the service and the pastor was not well enough to conduct the evening preaching service Sunday, the B. Y. P. U. meeting at 6:30.

The W. M. U. had a good session with Mrs. Holbrook Tuesday, Mrs. Milbank leader, subject "The Whitening Fields of Japan." We are glad to learn that Mrs. Forcade is some better though still very sick.

W. W. and Mrs. Laughlin will attend the W. M. U. meeting and the young people's Sunday School rally at Maryville, Thursday and Friday, some of our young people will represent our Sunday school: Crystal Holbrook, Velma Dew, Floyd Billingsley and Wilbur Bush among this number Mrs. Laughlin.

Church In India Profusely Decorated During Christmas Season, Writes Former Hopkins Woman, Now Missionary

(Hopkins Journal)

Jabalpur, India, Jan. 7, 1926

My Dear Friends:

For sometime after we returned from Furlough in the middle of 1923, we were not responsible for any Christian community, as my husband's work was medical and my chief work was to assist him, but at Conference at the close of 1924, we were both assigned to the Gadawara District—Dr. Felt to Medical work, and I do the women's evangelistic work. This is the one district in the Conference which has an Indian District Superintendent, and we are the only foreigners in that area. As Dr. Felt also has Conference medical work, we live in Jabalpur, which is more central, and in which bungalows are available. Gadawar, the headquarters of our District, is eighty miles from here, on the main line to Bombay. The past year has held a good many trips up and down this line for us.

Early in the year, we planned to spend Christmas with our people at Gadawara. I still had many of the gifts which I had received from friends at Hopkins, Portland, and Seattle, when we were returning from Furlough. In October, another parcel came from the Hopkins friends, and in November, I received one from my sister and young people of Ashbury Church, Seattle.

With the articles already on hand and the ones from these two parcels and some warm cloth which had been purchased through the gift of a friend, I undertook to help bring a little Christmas happiness into the homes of the workers of the district and the Christians who live in Gadawara. As so many of you shared in giving things, I am sure you will be interested in the distribution.

A few days before Christmas, if you had stepped into my bedroom you might have thought me a very untidy housekeeper, for you would have seen bed, chairs, table and dresser covered

SERVICE THAT SERVES

Comment on the Uniform International Sunday School Lesson for March 7, 1926.
Read John 13.

Wm. Southern, Jr.

One of the saddest things we meet in every day life is to see two fine men who, for some fancied or real reason, hate one another. It seems to me that the most futile thing in the world is to stand back on your dignity and refuse to speak to somebody.

In cases like these the outsider who wants to patch things up is in a hard place. He suffers the fate of the innocent bystander and gets hurt himself.

Often the cause of hatred lies in one of three directions, family differences, which arise from property or from jealousy, politics which has its hatred roots in the same causes, or religion, which I am unable to classify in hatred. A church row is the meanest quarrel on earth. It is as old as church organization, even older than that, it goes back as far as the development of human nature.

If this nation fails and turns to revolution and ruin it will be because of class hatred, which is founded in class abuse, in class arrogance and in class jealousy. It seems impossible to get the poison out of the hearts of men when it is brewed from real or fancied wrongs. It becomes unreasoning and unreasonable. How Jesus handled a quarrel among his best friends, how He reached the jealous human soul, is the story told in this lesson.

It was the Thursday before Jesus was crucified, just before the celebration of the passover. He asked two of his disciples to go into the city and prepare a room for their last supper together. He did not call it the last supper and His disciples did not know it was to be their last supper together. An upper room was selected and rented. It was a large paneled room and tables were arranged for the occasion and the meal prepared.

The twelve gathered early and then came the quarrel. We only know a little about this quarrel. Dr. Luke gives us a hint. It was probably a continuation of the ill feeling occasioned when James and John asked for the first place in the kingdom. At any rate Jesus found the disciples sullen, hard words had probably been passed.

It saddened the Master. He had been teaching them for three years and the burden of his mesage was love, not only love for Him and for God, but love for one another. In that country only sandals were worn on the feet, the roads were hot and dusty and the custom was for a servant to present a bowl of water and a towel and wash the feet of the master of the household and the guests. This had not been done. Jesus quietly took a towel and girded it about his waist and took the water and went from one to the other and washed their feet. Peter objected. I wonder how these who had been quarreling felt.

When we try to visualize this scene we fail, of course. Most of us immediately think of that picture conceived and painted by the great Italian artist, Leonardo Da Vinci. Prints of this picture may be seen in any collection and in all libraries in Christian lands. The artist evidently has in mind the quarrel which is mentioned by Dr. Luke. The Master sits at the center of the board, his long hair coming to his shoulders, his eyes slightly raised, almost as if he were then looking into heaven. At his right is a group of three which we identify as John, Peter and James. Peter is earnestly talking to the other two. There are four groups of three at the table and we at once turn to the group at the Master's left and our gaze is held almost in horror at the diabolical expression of the one nearest Jesus. It is Judas. It is said that when Da Vinci was painting this picture he had finished all but two faces, that of Jesus and that of Judas. He would stand for half a day at a time looking at the picture and seeking for inspiration. The Prior of the monastery rebuked him and complained to the Duke, who chided the artist. Da Vinci said he was working harder when he was not using the brush and that he could not find a likeness from which to model the disciple who had betrayed his Lord, but he thought he would make the face like that of the Prior.

It was at this supper that Jesus told his disciples that one of them would betray Him. There was a chorus of protests, the men about the table looking at one another and shrank from the nearest. Their own feuds of a short time ago wre forgotten. They were also ashamed of themselves. The Master performing the work of the meanest servant had made them ashamed. Then it was that Jesus insitiuted the communion which we as Christians use as a symbol of His love and his life and pledge anew each time ourselves and our faith.

Service is becoming an out-worn word. We hear it on the lips of every speaker, read it in the words of every writer, find it in the by-laws of organizations. It has become so shop-worn that we discount its meaning. So many men and women announce that they want to be of service and do not prepare themselves to be of service. The man or the woman who would really serve humanity must not only be willing to be of service, but able to be of service. Our foreign missionaries in these days spend many years in preparation and must not only be able to tell the story of Christianity but able also to heal the bodies and banish disease, just as Jesus did when he was here. The man who would serve the public as an official gives long years of study and preparation in order to return the right service.

So it happens that most of us are unable to serve. The reason is we do not want to serve. It is just a repetition of a worn out catch-word with which we salve our own consciences and fool nobody.

Jesus took the only way we know of to reach human souls. He loved his disciples every one, yes, He loved Judas. He got down on his knees and tenderly washed the dirt from their feet and then dried them with his towel. I think that even this might have failed but that same week Jesus was crucified and never again was there serious dissension amongst the twelve.

The millenium never will come while we live on this earth and the human soul responds to the impulses of human nature. But let me tell you this: If you seek happiness here the only place you will find it will be in doing something entirely unselfish for a loved one, for a friend or for somebody you do not even like.

JESUS WASHES HIS DISCIPLES FEET.

John 13: 1-15.

1. Now before the feast of the passover, when Jesus knew that his hour was come that he should depart out of this world unto the Father, having loved his own which were in the world, he loved them unto the end.
2. And supper being ended, the devil having now put into the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, to betray him.
3. Jesus knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he was come from God, and went to God;
4. He riseth from supper, and laid aside his garments; and took a towel, and girded himself.
5. After that he poureth water into a bason, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was girded.
6. Then cometh he unto Simon Peter; and Peter saith unto him, Lord, dost thou wash my feet?
7. Jesus answered and said unto him, What I do thou knowest not now; but thou shalt know hereafter.
8. Peter saith unto him, Thou shalt never wash my feet. Jesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou hast no part with me.
9. Simon Peter saith unto him, Lord, not my feet only, but also my hands and my head.
10. Jesus saith to him, He that is washed needeth not save to wash his feet, but is clean every whit: and ye are clean, but not all.
11. For he knew who should betray him: therefore said he, Ye are not all clean.
12. So after he had washed their feet and had taken his garments, and was set down again, he said unto them Know ye what I have done to you?
13. Ye call me Master and Lord: and ye say well; for so I am.
14. If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another's feet.
15. For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you.

The Golden Text—"The Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many."—Matt. 20: 28.

The YELLOW STUB by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN, because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Springfield where the theater is. The stub is traced to THOMAS FOGARTY, a political boss, who says he gave it to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints when she learns police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lifting Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Springfield and later is attacked at night by two men, but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Mary tells Jimmy this when they meet and he, trying to hurt her, accuses her of marrying for money.

That evening Jimmy and Olga see, in an auto, a man they both recognize —she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his attackers. The man and his companion escape. Later they identify him by his police picture as IKE JENSEN.

Church, out driving with Mary runs over a dog. His heartlessness kindles hatred in her heart and she breaks her engagement.

LIEUTENANT O'DAY, a policeman, warns Jimmy that Olga is in love with him. He invites Jimmy to his home for dinner and there he asks him if Henry Rand came from Durbin, in New York state, and if he was the son of Thaddeus Rand.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXII.

O'Day waved Jimmy Rand's question aside. "Tell me all you know about your grandfather and we'll see how the stories fit."

"Very little," Jimmy answered. "Dad never mentioned him around the house. My father never said much about his past, but he hinted that he had run away from home as a boy."

"He never talked about Thaddeus Rand at all?"

"I know nothing about my grandfather whatever. I've never even seen a picture of him. I'm sure Dad was a little bitter about him. There was some kind of estrangement and Dad left him."

"And you don't know anything about your father's past?"

"Not a thing. For the last thirty years he had worked in the same place and lived in the same town. That's about all any of the family knows about him. Once in a while when he'd be correcting my sister or me for something we had done, he'd say that we were being dealt with a great deal more leniently than he had been as a boy.

"That's about as far as he'd go. I've always imagined, from that, that Thaddeus Rand was a pretty stern parent."

"A hard man." O'Day nodded his head gravely.

"You knew him," Jimmy asked.

"Yes, an' I knew your father after a fashion, although he was a lad of sixteen when he ran away an' I a little shaver just startin' school."

O'Day chewed reflectively on his cigar. "It's funny, the tricks a man's memory will play on him. I wonder now that I didn't connect your father with this Henry Rand that I knew nearly forty years ago, when I first heard your story. Now I know what it is about you that's had me wonderin' where I'd seen you before. It's your resemblance to old Thaddeus Rand.

"Yes, I know the story all right. 'Twill take a bit of tellin' for it's been many a year since it all happened an' it's no compliment exactly to your grandfather, but I guess you can stand to hear it."

"Just so it's the truth, Lieutenant. I want to hear it all." Jimmy laid his hand on the other's arm. "Go on," he urged.

"I'll try to give the truth. Mind now, I was a kid of seven or thereabouts—it happened back in 1886 or 1887—an' some of it might not come back to me just right. But the story was gossip in our little town for years, long after you father and grandfather had left.

"Thaddeus Rand was a widower, when he came to Durbin to live, an' Henry Rand was his only son—Harry we called him in those days. He was a proud man, a cold man, I recall my father saying that Thaddeus Rand had come from Virginia an' that he boasted that his ancestors had been among the original settlers of Virginia.

"At any rate, we all knew that he was proud of his name an' his Cavalier forefathers." O'Day got up from his chair. "I want another cigar. Let's go in the living room where it's more comfortable."

He installed Jimmy in an easy chair and sat heavily in a rocker. Mrs. O'Day, finished with the dinner dishes, produced a sewing basket and sat in the dining room, knitting.

O'Day, after lighting a fresh cigar, went on with his story. "It's important that you know what a proud sort of man your grandfather was, Rand, so you'll understand the things he did. I can see his reason now, although at the time there didn't seem to be any excuse at all for what he did.

"Thaddeus Rand ran the only drug store in town. If he'd had any competition he wouldn't have got much business, for it wasn't a pleasure to deal with him. He was never a mixer, like most small town business men, but kept to himself as much as possible. When you went in his drug store you told him what you wanted and you got it. That's all there was to it. He was polite enough, but strictly business. I used to drink sodas in his store when I was a little shaver. That's one reason why I remember him so well.

"I don't know how old your father —Harry Rand—was when Thaddeus came to Durbin, but he was just a little kid and he grew up with the rest of the boys an' went to school with 'em. Unlike his father, he was a real popular lad. He was just a regular boy—into every sort of mischief that red-blooded boys get into, an' fond of playin' pranks. He was a ring leader in all the sports an' he was generally looked up to by all the other village boys. People used to wonder how Thaddeus Rand, with his cold, proud ways, could have such a son."

"It's hard," said Jimmy, blinking, for he was pretty close to crying. "It's hard for me to imagine anyone calling my father Harry. As we knew him, Henry was about the only thing that suited him. A quiet little man, you know, in his gray suits and his derby hat—and his unfailing punctuality."

"No doubt," said O'Day, "there was enough happened to him in his early years to change him an' make a different man of him. But I'll go on.

"Well, the years sort of moved along, an' Thaddeus Rand still kept his drug store makin' a fair livin' out of it, as proud as ever. He was as strict as sin with your father. Made him work in the drug store after school hours an' never let him out at night. It's a wonder the lad ever found time to play at all, but that he did, somehow, as I was tellin' you.

"Thaddeus Rand didn't want his son mixin' so free with the other boys. He had a notion that a Rand was too good for the rest of us. But Harry couldn't see it that way. He made many friends.

"I guess he was in his second or third year of high school—about sixteen years old—when he got in this scrape. He fell in love, an' he fell hard. One of these schoolboy infatuations, you understand, that we older folks always laugh at, but which are no laughin' matter at all when you have got one. It just about swept Harry Rand off his feet."

"God! It's hard to realize that," exclaimed Jimmy softly. "My father in a school boy love affair."

"We've all had them, Rand, some of them mild cases and some of them pretty violent. Your father was no exception. You didn't know your dad very well."

"No, I didn't, and I'm sorry."

"Well, this thing had been growing for about a year. She was a year or so younger than Harry, a year behind him in school. . . . . A beauty. . . . . One of these Latin types, you know—the kind that are full blown at fifteen.

"Her name was Marie Real, an' she was the daughter of the town shoemaker, Angelo Real. Nobody realized I guess, how serious it was with those two kids. He used to walk to school with her, an' home again in the afternoon. They were together all the time that he wasn't home or workin' in his father's store.

"Finally the thing got to be gossip; it spread all the faster, I guess, because she was the shoemaker's daughter an' he the son of proud old Thaddeus Rand. Thaddeus, when he heard about it, shut his mouth tight an' had one of his silent fits. He laid down the law to Harry, absolutely forbid him to speak to the girl again.

"Then he marches down to Angelo Real's shop an' lets off steam. 'You keep your daughter away from my son,' he says. 'I'll do my part; now you do yours.'

"Old Angelo gets mad himself. He didn't like Thaddeus' attitude, for which I don't blame him. 'You think my daughter's not good enough for your boy, eh' he says to Thaddeus. 'You listen to me. I don't like it any more than you do, you hear? You think I like it, eh?

"'I'll talk to Marie,' he says. 'You keep watch on your son. Marie's a good girl; she'll do what I say. Now you get out,' an' he chases old Thaddeus out of his shop with a hammer.

"Well, it got to be talked about the village that Thaddeus an' Angelo had had a fallin' out over their kids an' Marie an' Harry were not to speak to each other again. The kids tried hard, I guess, to be obedient children, an' for a while it looked like the thing was goin' to blow over.

"Thaddeus kept a close watch on Harry, an' kept him in the drug store every minute of the day that he wasn't in school. As for Angelo, he made his son Louis walk to school an' back with Marie every day.

"The kids stood it for a while, but the thing went a lot deeper than anybody thought. Gradually they got to stealin' a few minutes together in school, an' then it got to the note writin' stage. There were plenty of kids, girls mostly, who were willin' to carry notes between them.

"Then that was found out, an' Harry an' Marie had another talkin' to from their parents. Thaddeus, they say, even went so far as to threaten to cast Harry off if he didn't cut out his foolishness an' do it right away. The boy came to school the next mornin' lookin' pale as a ghost, with his jaw stuck out, an' said never a word.

"Mind you, I was too young at the time to know the whole story. I'm repeatin' it as it was told to me later on by my older brother, who was a classmate of Harry's.

"Marie was cryin' when she came to school the next day. Some say that old Angelo had given her a lickin,' which I wouldn't put past him."

O'Day lit a fresh cigar, then settled back i his chair. He continued, looking straight at Jimmy: "They didn't treat those kids right, Rand. I hope I'm never guilty of such cruelty to my own. They didn't say a word to anybody in school that mornin,' but at lunch time they had disappeared.

"They didn't show up all afternoon. When evenin' came, old Angelo an' Thaddeus went to the constable. They almost had a fight right in front of him, each blamin' the other, you see. They organized a searchin' party, but the kids had lit out, or killed themselves—nobody knew which. They did not come back that night, an' the next day the whole town was lookin' for them.

"Finally they found 'em—late the next afternoon. They had run away together—eloped—an' they were arrested by the police in a town about thirty miles away.

"They landed back in Durbin that night. Someone drove 'em home in a surrey. An' when they got back, Rand, there was hell to pay.

O'Brien Boy Thin and Pale
IN A LITTLE OVER TWO MONTHS GAINED ELEVEN POUNDS.
As a body builder, an appetite creator, and to make weak, skinny boys and girls sturdy, strong and full of energy there is nothing like Cod Liver Oil—any physician will tell you that.
But it's vile, horrible stuff to take, and is apt to upset any stomach, so now doctors are prescribing and wise parents are buying McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compounds Tablets—sugar coated, and as easy to take as candy.
The son of George G. O'Brien of Mahwah, N. J., was thin and pale and did not get enough nourishment from his food. In a little over two months, he gained eleven and one-half pounds, and feels and looks one hundred per cent better.
Mothers, if any of your children are weak, thin or puny, give them these tablets, as directed for 30 days, and watch them gain flesh and health from day to day—they seldom fail—but if the unusual should happen and you are not supremely satisfied with results—your druggist is authorized to return your money.
Be sure—always—to get the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets 60 cents at Gaugh & Evans or any druggist in America. Thousands of boxes sold daily.—Adv.

Church in India Profusely Decorated During Christmas Season, Writes Former Hopkins Woman, Now Missionary

with piles of picture cards, heads, needlework, pieces of cloth, frocks, crochet hooks, crochet cotton, tatting shuttles, ribbons, dolls (very few, pencils, writing tablets, toys, handkerchiefs, etc. and a puzzled missionary, trying to plan so that each of about two hundred people would receive something that would please. First, of course, came the Bible women and their families. The warm cloth was just enough to make each woman a jacket and this, with a nice handkerchief sent by Hopkins friends and a Bible picture to use in her work, also from Hopkins, made each of them a nice gift.

Then came their children, all about fifty. Three new babies had arrived to gladden as many homes during the year, and for each there was a lovely soft quilt from Seattle; also a rattle and a baby comb bought from a five cent counter at home. For the older babies there were the nice, bright colored frocks sent by the Seattle "Y" and some larger frocks and pieces of cloth for the next larger. For the largest girls, each of those pretty bags, also sent by the Seattle young people, had a needlebook and a handkerchief (both Seattle and Hopkins sent nice handkerchiefs) or a string of beads and a 'hanky' or a crochet hook, or tatting shuttle. For the boys it was not so easy stockings, one soap dish, 4 knives, one mouth organ, 4 small mirrors, 3 combs, plenty of pencils, making it possible to give each one a pencil and something else.

The men were the most difficult of all, but by drawing on "Hubby's" library, and going through my stock of Hindi books, it was possible for each one to have a book, either in Hindi or English, according to his scholastic attainments. When this was finished, we took stock of what was left for the 125 Christians at Gadaware—still some little frocks and slips, pencils and cards a box of rolled gold rings with pretty sets (from Hopkins) and a few pictures. The next day help was called in and all the rest of the Hopkins pictures were mounted on stiff wrapping paper—we had no cardboard.

The day before Christmas, when we were due to start to Gadaware, a great disappointment met us. A little patient of the doctor's was very ill, and her condition was so critical that his duty seemed to be to stay near by, so it fell to me to go alone. You must have been interested in my baggage—a roll of bedding containing mattress and all, a lunch basket, a small suit case, a good sized wooden box, containing the gifts, several extra parcels and a bunch of roses.

When I went to take my seat in the third class zanana carriage, I found Miss Justin, on her way to Narsingphur to spend the week with Mr. and Mrs. Sikes. Pleasant conversation helped the time to pass quickly, and soon I had left her at the Narsinghpur station and was at the next station, Kareli, where our Bible woman, Helen Matthews lives.

According to previous arrangements, her husband was at the train, and took over the parcels for the two Christian families there, and two parcels each to be sent to Barman and Tendukhera, stations 15 and 26 miles out in the district. The next station was Bohani where there is a Christian community but no pastor, and where, alas, nothing had been done to help to a realization of what the birth of Christ should mean to every Christian. The next stop was Gadawara, where I found the District Superintendent waiting to greet me. An all India Jain Conference was being held in Gadawara, so there was only one tonga available, and box, bedding, the district superintendent, the driver, and I, were all packed into this little tonga, which had one little pony to draw it, and started for the Mission house, two miles away. I feared the pony could not even start with such a load and had a very bad conscience for a few minutes, but he trotted off quite bravely and in due course, we were landed at the Mission compound, all of us, including the pony and tonga, in good condition. Here we were greeted by Phuli bai, Bhuriya bai and Suniya Lal and the rest of their respective families. What a busy afternoon we had. The men and boys decorated the church, while Phulibai and I sorted and marked presents, and at 6:30 all was ready for the evening service. The christians of Gadawara are almost wholly from the sweeper class and are most humble and to quite an extent uneducated, but very responsive to kindness and to any Gospel message.

They crowded in until there was no room left in the Church and we wished we could push the wall out and overflow into the rest room at the back. After the opening service, in which all joined, the pastor gave us a very good, tho' very long Christmas sermon, through which all sat very quietly, giving the best of attention.

You never saw any Church in the homeland decorated as that Church was. Festoons of paper of many colors hung from every available place, tissue paper flowers and ornaments adorned each wall space, the altar rail was filled with green branches, the pulpit decorated with flowers and across the front wall, in tissue paper roses of many colors, an appropriate passage of scripture. The decorated altar rail was chosen to serve as Christmas tree, and bright frocks and pictures hung on that. When I saw that crowd and realized how little I had for them, to use a Hundustani idiom, my heart became very small, and with a good deal of trepidation, began the distribution of the gifts. I told them first of all, that tho' the gifts we had for them were small, that Christian friends had sent them, not knowing how many there were to receive them and that it was because of love for the Christ child and His little ones that we had gifts from America.

First, the babies received little frocks (those blessed Asbury young people,) then the bigger boys and girls received each a pencil and a picture postcard and the smaller ones, just a postcard, for there were no more pencils, nor toys nor cloth. How my heart ached for the little things. Every one needed a frock and a piece of soap and a comb and a lot of them looked as though they needed, had needed for a long time, a good square meal three times a day.

When it came to the men and women I had to apologize again. All there was for the men were those pictures that had been mounted on brown paper, and each of the women received a ring and a piece of soap. The thing about it that nearly broke my heart and almost made the tears come was the gratitude and appreciation. It was more pathetic than words can express. This is the first time that even this much has been done in Gadawara, but registered a vow that it would not be the last, if I could help it, and that I would begin at once to collect pictures and save pieces of cardboard, and make up all the available pieces of cloth into frocks and jackets, vests, baby shoes and moccasins and caps and that I would put aside by dislike of asking for things and tell all my friends that I shall need lots of things next Christmas, frocks, cloth, bags, baby clothes, baby quilts, toys, dolls,—say 200 dolls—pencils, writing tablets, soap, pictures, calendars, ribbons, woolen scarfs, buttons, safety pins, and if any one can not send articles but would like to send money, that can be used to buy articles here. There are 1,400 Christians in Gadawara District, nearly all just as simple and humble as the ones who live in Gadawara. Would it not be glorious, if in some way, we could bring a litle more of the realization of the meaning of Christmas to each one of them next December?

I was awakened Christmas morning by the singing of carols outside my door, and as soon as we had all wished each other Merry Christmas and had our morning tea, the bell was rung for service, and we gathered in the Church once more. This time, many non-Christians came, and Hindus, Mohammedans and Christians together listened to a sermon on the coming of Christ, the Savior. At the close of the service each one was decorated with a wreath of flowers and sweets and spices were passed. Everyone was beamingly happy. Had it not been for caste marks on some of the faces and certain peculiarities of dress, it might have appeared that we were all true followers and lovers of the Christ.

The next item on the day's program was breakfast, prepared by Phulibai, Bhuriyabai, Suniya bai, and Lydiabai, the four Biblewomen who were present. When it was ready, we all did full justice to the curry and rice, 'puris,' sweets and fruit.

At 3:00 p. m. I was again on the train and arrived in Jabalpur in time to enjoy a good Christmas dinner with my husband. Christmas in India is always a very happy time, but not one of the twenty-five has been more joyous than Christmas of 1925, spent in Gadawara.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, March 5.—The bulls began to score on the Chicago Board of Trade today with all grain prices closing higher. The undertone of the market showed a strong bullish tendency, giving local traders good reason to expect further advances.

Wheat prices showed marked advances from all losses resulting from the recent bear raid regained. This grain closed from 1¼ to 2 5-8 cents above yesterday's final figures in May deliveries. The sudden bullish revival was attributed to the unexpected demand for cash wheat and flour. Prices in these products showed sharp advances in all principal points. A general short covering also was a factor in the advances. The market itself was big and local traders look for it to be followed by good buying. The government report is to be issued next Tuesday. This is expected to confirm the private estimates of local experts released March 1.

Corn took its cue from wheat but with its advances only fractionally higher. Cash corn prices showed better to higher.

Oats bulged steadily more in sympathy with wheat and corn because of any natural demand of its own.

Provisions gained over the opening and closed around yesterday's final figures.

Maryville Wins Double-Header; "Kenny" Swinford Rules Roost

Maryville Boys	19
Rosendale Boys	17
Maryville Girls	19
Rosendale Girls	5

Kansas has her "Stony" Wall, Missouri has her Lincoln, Illinois has her "Red" Grange, but Maryville High School has her—"Kenny" Swinford.

"Stony" Wall kicked a short field goal to beat Missouri last fall on football, and Kansas immediately became the greatest state in the Union.

"Al" Lincoln kicked a long field goal to beat Kansas several years ago, and the Tiger immediately was the most popular beast in the jungle.

"Red" Grange ran many, many yards many, many times, and the echo was felt all over the world.

But last night, "Kenny" Swinford shot the winning basket in the last 6 seconds of the Maryville-Rosendale game, and the local high school is now the educational center of the universe.

Yesterday, "Kenny" Swinford sat in study hall and rolled his eyes. Every feminine heart within range of those opties pulsated more rapidly than a moment before. Today, he won't even have to roll 'em. He rules the roost. He's the incarnation of Romeo, Apollo, and Rudolph, all in one.

And all because he shot the field goal which broke a 17-17 tie in a basketball game when it seemed more than likely that it would run into an extra period.

It was a thrilling game. The first half was not so exciting as its successor. Maryville led at the end of the first quarter, 4 to 1, and at the end of the half, 10 to 5. When the third quarter had ended, Rosendale had narrowed the Maryville margin, and the score stood 14-12.

The final period made the game one which will do down in history. Mackey, Rosendale center, shot a free throw. But 1 point separated the two teams. Then Davison, Rosendale forward, flipped a free throw and sent his team into the lead for the first time in the game.

Mackey become over-anxious and fouled Kissinger, Maryville captain and forward. The lanky "Fox" came through in the pinch and knotted the score. A moment later, he brought the crowd up from the bleachers by a near tip-in under the basket. Maryville led, 17-15 But 40 seconds of playing remained.

The ball was tipped at center, Davison captured it and shot successfully. The score was tied again.

The game was almost over. H. L. Raines, timer, had taken his gun from the table and was holding it in readiness. Up went the ball at center. It was tipped. There was a general scramble for it in Maryville territory. While several players were still scrambling, out came "Kenny" Swinford from the melee. He had the ball Once he dribbled; once he feinted; then he shot. And Maryville led, 19-17.

In less time than it takes to tell it, the game was over.

It was a hard game for Rosendale to lose. Flushed with an ultra-victorious season, the visitors last night had banked on winning. They played to win. It was a fast, hard game.

There were no substitutes. There was time for none. Why make changes when the starting line-up is giving everything?

Kissinger led the scoring for Maryville with 10 points. Davison was high for Rosendale with 8. Both teams played well. The team work was noticeable.

"Viv" Marsh refereed. A slower man certainly would have gotten behind the game. It was a team-killing, official-killing pace.

In the preliminary game last night, the Maryville girls won from the Rosendale girls. Never this season on the local court have the Maryville girls won after making such a poor effort at passing. If only the shooting and guarding could be remembered, the record would be better. But, especially in center, there were many wild passes. The Maryville team seemed bent on getting the ball to the forwards, and sacrificed all semblance of teamwork in the effort to do so. Time and again a wild heave went out of bounds or into the Rosendale player's hands.

Maryville led at the half, 10 to 4. In the second semester, Miss Ruth Bookman, coach, made several substitutions. R Dell Chick, who was substituted for Captain Wray at forward, handled herself as well or better than any Maryville player But the coach took her out before she had a chance to get going well.

Puckett led the Maryville scoring with 8 points, Captain Lewellin made all of Rosendale's points.

Miss Helen Manley, head of the women's physical education department at the State Teachers College, refereed a fine game. She pleased the crowd more than any girls' referee this year.

SCHOOLEYS TO BE MET HERE

BEARCATS WILL PLAY K. C. TEAM SATURDAY NIGHT

GARRETT WILL REFEREE

Reserved Seats Now On Sale for Game to Be Played in New College Gymnasium

Results of the K. C. A. C.—Schooley basketball game at Kansas City night before last would indicate that when the Stationers come to Maryville tomorrow night there will be a real battle. The K. C. A. C. won Thursday's game, 33 to 21. On January 9, the Blue Diamonds won from the Bearcats 32-18. Therefore, two well-matched teams should meet Saturday night.

"Garry" Gharrett, former Drake University star, will referee the game, which will start at 8 o'clock. Reserved seats are now on sale at Kuchs Bros. A number of out-of-town applications for cardboards have already been received.

H. Frank Lawrence, Bearcat coach, was not certain of his starting line-up today. He will probably start Burks and either Aldrich or Ungles at forwards, Berst at center, and Blomfield and Joy at guards.

The Schooley line-up also is not known.

The game tomorrow night will be the last appearance of the Bearcats this year at home. Week after next, Coach Lawrence expects to take his squad to Kansas City to play in the National A. A. U. tournament. The Bearcats are not slated to capture national honors, but they will gain invaluable experience.

Sheridan Teams Split Games With Hatfield

Sheridan basketball teams divided a doubleheader Wednesday night with the Hatfield boys' and girls' teams. The Sheridan girls won with a score of 18 to 2, while the Hatfield boys were victorious by a score of 20 to 8.

Avoid Poorly Balanced Breakfasts

Start the day with Quaker Oats —food that "stands by" you.

IF you feel tired, hungry, "fidgety," hours before lunch, don't jump to the conclusion of poor health. Thousands have unenergetic mornings because they start the day with wrong breakfasts.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a hurried meal, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder, 58% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamines and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning. Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. That's faster than plain toast. Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers you.
